

2025/2026 NEW FELLOWS

EDUARDO VEGA

For advancing quality across industries and countries; for leadership within ASQ; for contributions to national and state quality award programs in Mexico and the U.S.; and for a lasting commitment to mentoring, problem-solving, and developing people through the principles and practice of quality.

DOUGLAS WOOD

For advancing quality management thinking through leadership, international instruction, influential publications, leadership within ASQ, and key roles in the Quality Management Division; contributions to State quality award programs; and a commitment to mentoring, teaching problem-solving. He has made an impact on the profession and exemplifies ASQ's mission and values.

ROGER MERRIMAN

For exemplary leadership at Textron Aviation, combined with his extensive teaching experience and innovative contributions to flight testing and quality engineering, make him a distinguished candidate for ASQ Fellow. His commitment to process excellence and mentoring future professionals underscores his significant impact on the field of quality assurance.

ZUBAIR ANWAR

For outstanding contributions to digital quality evolution globally as thought leader for implementing quality and Six Sigma systems in Middle East and Pakistan for calculating professional and academic quality education globally, for valuable services to ASQ, TCC, training division, customer supplier division, service, quality division, and innovation division, and for helping the organization in capacity building worldwide

2025/2026 NEW FELLOWS

RHONDA FARRELL

For demonstrating exceptional leadership in advancing quality and innovation principles within ASQ and beyond for multiple decades. Her empowering leadership traits, dedicated mentorship, and excellence mindset have significantly impacted the quality community, making her a deserving candidate for the distinguished recognition as an ASQ Fellow.

SHRIKANT MEHTA

For exemplary achievements and leadership across a broad spectrum of quality management and operational excellence areas; for excellence in design and deployment of governance and performance measurement frameworks; for inspirational commitment to furthering Quality Thinking and for creating tangible impact through ASQ community activities.

SCOTT CORNISH

For being a valuable and active member of the ASQ SJ Section 504. He holds dual roles within the SLC and brings extensive experience in quality across three different industries.